RESIGNATION OF PEEK FROM AAA VERY PROBABLE

His Position Is Considered Untenable After Open Discord

Washington, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Agriculture Department liberals could claim at least a partial victory today in their differences with more conservative George N. Peek, Farm Administrator, because officials expected his resignation soon.

At the same time, it was equally evident that President Roosevelt wished earnestly to retain the head of the Agriculture Adjustment Administration in some other high federal position.

Secretary Wallace, under whom Peek has been working, offered a new post to his aide; at least one other position elsewhere, not immediately specified, was said to have been proposed.

Compromise Unlikely
At any rate, officials held unlikely a compromise between Peek and liberals in the Agriculture Department. Tension which had existed for months and finally broke out openly, showing that the Secretary often accepted the advice of others rather than that of Peek, was believed by these officials to have made untenable Peek's present position.

In many of these cases, Peek favored compromise with business whereas the liberals urged compulsion where they thought it necessary.

The suggestions were made that Peek might follow to the NRA the roles, other than those involving processing, which were transferred from the AAA to Hugh S. Johnson's agency. But Peek said he had heard nothing of that "rumor" and that he did not wish to discuss his resignation.

For Independence
It was known though, that one of Peek's basic objections to the AAA job was that his decisions there were subject to approval or veto by Secretary Wallace that a transfer to the NRA would simply move the veto power to Johnson; that Peek still might the AAA should be independent, operating under the President.

All these things have been put before Roosevelt, who talked with Peek, Wallace and Dr. R. G. Tugwell, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture and one of the leading departmental liberals.

When, and if, Peek leaves the AAA, it was forecast that his job would be taken by Chester C. Davis, now Director of the Farm Administration, and that others would not stay long after the Farm Administrator departed.

Mrs. Lundstrom Is Given Chance Today By Her Physicians

The funeral of Robert Lundstrom proprietor of the Sterling Floral Co., and intimate friend of Louis Knud of this city, instantly killed when struck by a car near St. John's church, Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, with the Knight's Templar in charge, and in St. John's Lutheran church at 1:30 P. M. Dr. E. C. Harris officiating, assisted by Rev. C. M. Irwin of the Presbyterian church. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

Associated Press advices from St. John this morning were to the effect that Mrs. Lundstrom who was seriously injured in the collision which preceded her husband's tragic death, is improving and is now expected to recover.

Postmaster Ward Is Accused Of Political Activity In Campaign

Charges of being unduly active in the political campaign a year ago have been filed against Postmaster Harold Ward, Republican, of Sterling, a former Dixon newspaper man who has many friends in this city. He was notified of the charges yesterday by Inspector M. H. Alberts of Chicago, who is now in Sterling making an investigation. His accuser's name was not revealed to Mr. Ward, who is chairman of the Whiteside county NRA organization and who has been giving loyal support to all the present administration's policies.

Murder Case In Pekin Dismissed

Pekin, Ill., Dec. 8.—(AP)—John Petji, East Peorian on trial at Pekin charged with the murder of Lewis Nelson following a drinking party at the Petji home last summer, was freed today when the court decided evidence was insufficient to continue the trial, and instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty.

Charges against Frank Keyes, Jr., and Edward Huffel, alleged to have aided Petji in placing Nelson's body on a railroad track after the party had been dropped shortly after opening of the trial. Called today to testify, both refused on legal grounds.

Gas Diversion Is Argued in Court

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Oral arguments before the Illinois Supreme Court in the gas tax diversion case today were scheduled for Dec. 19. A final decision at this time of court is possible.

Few Goodfellows Have Responded to Call; Time Is Short

Goodfellows are responding, a few of them, to the appeal for help for poor families in Dixon this year. The Goodfellow department at the Evening Telegraph office has had calls from a few Goodfellows, who have asked to be assigned a family that they can supply a happy Christmas for. That is the most practical way of all to help the Goodfellow campaign and that is the way you can get the most enjoyment out of being a Goodfellow. Let us give you the name of a family which we have investigated and know to be needy and worthy, and you be their Santa Claus.

If it is not convenient to do this, you can do your part by making a cash donation to the Goodfellow fund. Donations should be sent to the Goodfellow Department of the Dixon Evening Telegraph. They will be acknowledged through the columns of the paper. Please be prompt with your donation, because Christmas is so near at hand.

The city firemen are repairing broken toys and if you have any you should take them to the fire station at the city hall, where they will be rehabilitated and given to some poor youngster at Christmas time.

The first cash donation to the fund was received today from Miss Carrie Rosenthal in the sum of $5.

TAKE EVIDENCE IN TORCH MURDER CASE TODAY

Rockford Prosecutor Continues Drive to Convict Woman

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 8.—(AP)—The prosecution in the trial of Mrs. Mary Hanson, accused of the torch murder of her husband, today sought through the questioning of two witnesses to discredit her contention that the fatal blaze was caused by an accidental explosion of gasoline in the tank of his automobile.

The witnesses were Alfred and Philip Dion, neighbors who live about 300 feet from the Hanson home. With Bruce Thompson, another neighbor who testified yesterday, they were the first outside the family to reach the scene.

Both testified they found Earl Hanson lying in flames on the ground a few feet from the blazing automobile. He was not yet dead, they said, and writhing and groaning.

Philip said that he noticed that the filler cap of the cow gasoline intake was off. Alfred testified that the filler cap was several inches from the intake and that a blue-white flame was coming from its vent.

The prosecution indicated that it would call in automotive experts to back up its theory that the heat of the fire within the body of the car caused the gasoline within the tank to expand and thereby force off the filler cap. The flame in the cap, it will contend, was caused by vapor from the expanding gas.

Father of Dixon Woman Died Today

Ind. passed away early this morning at his home after an illness of several months. He was the father of Mrs. J. W. Sipe of this city and many friends will unite in extending to her at this time their sincere sympathy. No details were contained in the telegram Mrs. Sipe received this morning as to the time of the funeral services. Mr. and Mrs. Sipe are leaving late this afternoon for Lexington to be with her mother and family.

Funeral of Mrs. Fanning Saturday

The funeral of Mrs. Johanna Fanning, former Dixonite, whose death in Chicago Wednesday was noted in The Telegraph, will be held at the Church of the Resurrection in Chicago tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock, with burial at Bloomington in the afternoon. Mrs. Fanning, who was 83 years of age, is survived by four children, all formerly of Dixon; Misses Margaret and Catherine, Richard and Edward. One son, James, preceded her in death.

Charges of Political Favoritism in Illinois Office of United States Home Loan Corporation Made

Chicago, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Following upon charges of political favoritism under the present administration, a thorough shakeup was reported under consideration today for the Illinois office of the Federal Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

The names of Albert F. Hammann, president of a mortgage company bearing his name, and Henry G. Zander, Jr., president of the Chicago Real Estate Board for the past year were mentioned as likely successors to William G. Donne, as state manager of the corporation.

Hammann was reported to be a leading candidate for the post when the corporation was formed last spring. He left for Washington

STERLINGITE IS SUICIDE AFTER DEATH OF WIFE

Frank O'Brien, Brother of Dixonite, Jumped Into Rock River

Despondent over the recent death of his wife who left him with a crippled child, Frank O'Brien, aged 45, of Sterling, formerly of Harmon, a brother of Mrs. Harry B. Williams, 119 College Ave., this city, ended his life late Thursday by leaping into Rock river from the first avenue bridge in Sterling, the contact of his body with the water, which is barely two feet in depth, causing a heart attack which probably brought instant death.

O'Brien, who was a faithful and efficient employee of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Sterling, had been brooding over his domestic situation for several weeks, it was stated by companions today, and about a week ago he entered the Home hospital in Sterling for treatment. He left the hospital yesterday and returned to his rooms in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ginger on Avenue B.

Threatened Rash Act

At about 4:30 he asked Ginger to accompany him on a short walk and they started toward the business part of the city and the bridge. As they approached the north end of the bridge O'Brien saying he was going to drown himself, leaped over the railing and into the shallow water.

His leap was witnessed by Lloyd Palmer, a Rock Falls youth, who immediately secured a rope and waded to the body, brought it to shore. A physician, the pulmonologist of the Sterling fire department and the I. N. U. resuscitation crew were called at once and they worked over an hour before concluding that death had come when the body struck the water. The body was taken to the Forster undertaking rooms where an inquest was scheduled for this afternoon.

Illinois May Lose Many CWA Projects; Must Act Quickly

Chicago, Dec. 8.—(AP)—It was up to Illinois officials of the civil works program today to approve projects, putting 49,200 unemployed persons to work, or see thousands of the state's quota of 231,750 jobs go to other states. Howard O. Hunter, field representative of the Federal CWA in six states, issued the warning yesterday and said that unless enough projects were approved by midnight Saturday the state stood to lose part of its quota possibly to Ohio and Indiana which have more projects than jobs.

At 13,584 jobs had not yet been filled downstream while Cook county had 35,726 available. Although December 15 has been set as the deadline for the full quota to be at work, only those for whom jobs had been provided for by December 9 would be counted, he said.

Funeral of Chas. Johnson Yesterday

The funeral of Charles H. Johnson was held from his late home 609 Galena avenue, yesterday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. A. B. Whitcombe of Grand Detour conducted the services at the residence, the commitment service at the grave being in charge of officers of Dixon lodge, No. 779, B. P. O. Elks. The services were largely attended by a delegation of Elks and many friends. The pall bearers were: C. E. Mossholder, Robert Howell, A. C. Gossman, H. V. Massey, W. C. Jones and William Nixon. Interment was in Oakwood.

FSRC Continues to Buy Pork for Needy

Washington, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The Federal Surplus Relief Corporation announced today that it is buying 6,050 hogs on various markets during the day.

Harry L. Hopkins, president, said it has purchased 14,069 head during the last few days and will continue the purchase so long as the pork is needed for relief purposes.

FOUR KIDNAPED CANADIAN COAST GUARDSMEN FREE

Crew Alleged Rum-Runner Captured and Imprisoned

Halifax N. S., Dec. 8.—(AP)—The Royal Canadian Mounted Police announced today that four members of the crew of the police cutter Stumble Inn, kidnapped aboard the Kromhout, a suspected rum-runner, were landed safely last night, at St. Pierre. The crew of the Kromhout was jailed.

While every available craft of Canada's police service combed the Atlantic for the four captives, they were landed on the rocky island off Newfoundland's coast at 9 P. M., some 12 hours after their abduction.

Capt. Ross Mason of the Kromhout and his men were arrested immediately and placed in jail at St. Pierre.

The four seamen had been placed aboard the Kromhout, which was seized by the Stumble Inn and taken into tow. They were overpowered, the towline was hacked and the captured vessel escaped in the morning mist, despite shots and pursuit from the police boat.

LINDBERGH'S ON WAY HOME FROM SOUTH AMERICA

Jumped to Para, Brazil at Mouth of Amazon River Today

Para, Brazil, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh homeward bound for the Christmas holidays, landed here at 12:30 P. M. CST, today after a flight from Natal, Brazil.

When the Lindberghs landed here they had covered 1,095 miles from Natal. More than 3,000 miles still lie between them and Miami, Florida.

A light shower was falling as the monoplane swooped down and alighted on the field. Mrs. Lindbergh was at the wireless, reporting to Pan-American Airways, for which her husband is technical adviser, as they landed.

May Check Plane

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh made the flight in seven hours, twenty-one minutes, flying at an average speed of 148.9 miles an hour.

Pan-American Airways maintains large repair shops at Para and it was believed likely that Lindbergh would have his plane gone over before proceeding on to the United States.

NATHALIANS PUZZLED

Natal, Brazil, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Chas. A. Lindbergh hopped for Miami, Fla., in their big red monoplane today at 8:15 A. M. local time (6:15 A. M. EST).

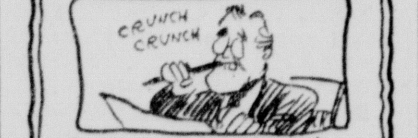

Their route, it was indicated, lay by way of Para (Belem) Brazil, and thence northward along the South American coast.

13 SHOPPING DAYS with CHRISTMAS

'HEALTH' TO BE THEME OF MEET HERE THIS EVE

Unusual Public Gathering at Moose Hall is Free to All

Through the efforts of Dr. E. S. Murphy, president of the Illinois Tuberculosis Association and Dr. David Murphy, vice-chairman of the Lee county organization, a public health meeting will be held this evening at 7:30 at the Moose hall, to which the general public is invited. The doors will be open at 7 o'clock and no admission is to be charged. The junior band under the direction of Russell Mason will be heard in a concert, preceding the scheduled program which will start at 7:30.

W. P. Shahan, executive secretary of the Illinois Tuberculosis Association, will be the principal speaker. There will be an hour's instruction and entertainment of moving pictures, three films being shown. One of these will be an animated cartoon film, entitled, "Prof. Bugs," a semi-comic picture dealing with germs. The principal film to be shown is entitled, "Tuberculosis and How It May Be Avoided."

The meeting has been arranged through the cooperation of civic bodies throughout the county, the ministers of the various churches and the schools. The program will be the first of its kind to be held in Illinois, and if successful, similar meetings will be conducted throughout the state.

NORTHWESTERN AND U. OF C. IN MERGER SOON?

Two Great Universities to Be Consolidated, It Is Reported

Chicago, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Northwestern University and the University of Chicago probably will be merged within the next two months.

The trustees of the University of Chicago, it is reported, have pledged themselves not to make the merger a means of securing tax exemptions on property held by the University.

Taking cognizance of the fact the merged schools would operate under Northwestern's charter, which contains tax exemption provisions granted by the state, Dr. Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern was quoted as saying:

"This merger is no tax dodging scheme. It will take no property off the tax list."

Prior to President Scott's statement, Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, denied reports that the proposed merger would make a strict postgraduate school out of Chicago and force its withdrawal from collegiate athletic competition.

He said it was planned to keep the undergraduate work of the two schools apart and consolidate only postgraduate and special educational work as a means of saving money.

Four Year Old Boy Is Dead In Sterling; He Drank Sulphuric Acid

As a result of drinking sulphuric acid from a bottle which was left within his reach on Nov. 13, Reed Bowers, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bowers of Sterling, died at the Sterling public hospital yesterday, death being attributed to starvation by the coroner's jury last evening.

The child was taken to the hospital as soon as his parents discovered he had drunk the contents of the unlabelled bottle, the nature of which was not discovered until a postmortem was held yesterday. For the first few days he appeared to improve and was taken home. However he soon began to fail, as he could digest no food. X-ray examinations revealed the lining of the stomach and intestines to have been cruelly eaten by the acid and it was apparent he could not recover.

SHERIFF LEAVES FOR JOPLIN, MO. TO GET McCABE

Hopes to Return Fugitive to Cell Sometime on Sunday

(Telegraph Special Service)
Joplin, Mo., Dec. 8.—Ernest J. McCabe, who police say is wanted at Dixon, Ill., and Tallahassee, Fla., for jail breaking, was arrested Thursday morning by local detectives. Two other men were arrested by the detectives as companions of McCabe, and were being held in jail this afternoon for investigation.

McCabe was arrested at the request of Dixon authorities, who informed Chief Ed Portley that McCabe broke out of the county jail there last August while under indictment on a charge of box car robbery. His record, according to Portley, shows that he escaped from prison at Tallahassee in 1928 while serving a three year term for grand larceny, but was recaptured and escaped again in 1929.

McCabe declined to waive extradition when arrested and Dixon authorities were notified by Portley to start extradition proceedings to return him to that place. No charges have been preferred against the jail breaker here.

Officers Depart

Sheriff Fred Richardson and Deputy Ward Miller left early this morning for Springfield and will proceed to Joplin with all possible haste to return McCabe to a cell in the Lee county jail, from which he and four others dug out of a south wall early in the evening of August 30. The necessary requisition papers were turned over to the Sheriff by State's Attorney Edward Jones yesterday afternoon. These were to be presented to the state officials at Springfield this morning at 10 o'clock to be honored and the Lee county officers will then start for Jefferson City, Mo., where the extradition papers will again be presented to the governor of Missouri for his signature, which will take the officers direct to Joplin.

In the event that McCabe attempts to evade extradition, it was expected that he might demand a hearing before being removed from Missouri, in which event he would be taken from Joplin to Jefferson City to appear before the governor for a hearing. Barring unnecessary delays Sheriff Richardson expected to have McCabe back in a cell in the Lee county jail some time Sunday. The prisoner was to wear not only handcuffs but leg irons as well on his 500 mile automobile ride from Joplin to Dixon, his record of escapes being recalled by the two officers who will return him to Dixon.

Warrant Out for Mary McCormic on Charge of Battery For Slap

Los Angeles, Dec. 8.—(AP)—In addition to defending herself in a $1,000,000 civil suit, Mary McCormic, opera singer, must stand trial on a charge of battery as the aftermath of the slap she gave Miss Grace Williams, biographer of the singer's former husband, Prince Serge Mdivani.

Miss McCormic was formally charged with battery in a complaint issued yesterday by Deputy City Attorney C. Y. G. Higgins.

Williams signed the complaint. The charge against the singer resulted from a slap given by Miss McCormic to Miss Williams in a newspaper office as the latter sought to sell to the newspaper the newspaper the secrets of the property settlement between the singer and her former husband.

Miss Williams previously filed a $1,000,000 damage suit as the result of the face-slapping incident.

Michael Luddy, attorney for the singer who protested issuance of the battery complaint, said the charge probably would hasten Miss McCormic's return from New York. The complaint cannot be prosecuted until she is here.

Freeport Silver Fox Farm Robbed

Freeport, Ill., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Thieves made a second raid within a year at the C. E. Brubaker fox farm here last night, taking twenty-eight young silver foxes valued at $3,500. On the previous visit the thieves took twenty-two.

Although a drone bee does not have a father, it does have a grandfather.

Farmer and Wife Who Allegedly Hijacked Load of Auto Tires on Road Near Mendota Under Arrest

Joliet, Ill., Dec. 8.—(AP)—A farmer and wife were in jail here today and a $10,000 cargo of automobile tires, hijacked from two truck drivers en route from Akron, O. to Omaha, Neb., had been recovered.

The two, taken into custody when the tires were found in an abandoned corn crib yesterday after the two victims of the robbery had led state police to the spot; John Berkici, and his wife, Anna, 42.

The robbery occurred Wednesday when F. M. Snyder and Fred Bateman, employees of the Akron Truck Owners' Freight Company, told police their truck was blocked by three men in a small sedan at a

JUDGE TO GIVE FUGITIVE EVERY POSSIBLE BREAK

Acts After Horner Orders Man Return- ed to Chain Gang

Chicago, Dec. 8.—(AP)—To allow James A. LaRue plenty of time to seek a habeas corpus writ, Judge Alfred O. Erickson today ordered the Florida chain gang fugitive held for 24 hours in the custody of his court.

LaRue had been ordered extradited to Florida by Governor Henry Horner at Springfield yesterday.

The prisoner told a harrowing story to the court yesterday and Judge Erickson promised then to give him "every break in the world" in his legal fight to avoid a return to Dade county, Florida, where he would have to serve the remaining four and one-half years of a five year sentence. LaRue said he had been subjected to extreme cruelty in the chain gang, and asserted he was convicted for breaking into a house although he stole nothing.

When he was re-arrested today Judge Erickson said he would hold him in custody for a day to permit him to make another bid for freedom by habeas corpus proceedings.

Late yesterday Horner at Springfield signed the extradition papers ordering LaRue returned to Florida to complete his sentence.

Doubled Tax On Liquor Is Urged

Washington, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The President's special inter-departmental alcohol committee has recommended that Congress impose a tax of $2.60 a gallon on distilled spirits as compared with the present $1.10 tax.

The committee also recommended that all beers be taxed $5 a barrel, the same as the present $2 brew.

The present tax on beers of alcoholic content in excess of 3.2 is $6 a barrel.

The committee recommended that an additional 10 cents per gallon tax be assessed on blended and rectified spirits over and above the $2.60 gallon levy, bringing it to a total of $2.76. The present law provides an additional 30 cents a gallon tax on rectified and blended liquor.

Old Man Killed After Rejection at County Home

Batavia, Ill., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Fate played a strange and fatal trick on John Maxwell, 78.

Maxwell applied for admittance to the Kane county home for the poor yesterday. Permission was refused on the ground that he did not have an admittance card signed by the supervisor of his township—a rule adopted to keep tramps from making the place a resting spot for the winter.

Half an hour later Maxwell was fatally injured.

He was struck by an automobile driven by Ray Bartholomew, Assistant Superintendent of the home—the man who had refused the aged applicant admittance.

KIDNAPER CONVICTED

Kane County, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Clarence Clink was convicted by a jury today of participating in the kidnapping of Miss Mary McElroy, daughter of City Manager Henry J. McElroy, and was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary.

BLAIR WARNS OF
CLOSED SCHOOLS
AS DEBT MOUNTS

Asks Gov. Horner For State Aid To Supply Teacher Salaries

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 8.—(AP)—In asking special session legislation to help the public schools of Illinois solve their financial problems, Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis G. Blair today reported that:

Education costs have been cut more than $32,000,000 in two years. The outstanding unfunded indebtedness is estimated at $75,000,000 of which $58,000,000 is in Chicago.

Governor Horner has promised to place the school tax situation before the next special session.

"The emergency which may entail the closing of hundreds of schools in Illinois during the year, Blair wrote in a letter to the Governor, "is due to the fact that they have issued anticipation warrants and teachers' orders, millions of dollars of which on account of lowered assessed valuations and delinquent tax collections, remain unpaid."

Twelve Millions Behind
The state distributive fund, through which help is granted to school districts, is almost $12,000,000 in arrears.

Blair made no specific recommendations for emergency financing, but suggested that "new sources of revenue not entailing a direct property tax" should be found if gasoline or sales tax funds are unavailable.

After quoting statistics to indicate that the current unfunded debt is about $75,000,000, Blair said:

"I believe that if the legislature could x x x provide for the purchase of 50 per cent of these outstanding anticipation warrants and teachers' orders, it would provide immediately the means of keeping the schools open."

But most of the school officers with whom I have advised favor the following plan:

"That the legislature shall provide for advancing to all the school districts outside of Chicago 50 per cent of their taxes uncollected, levied for 1932, to be collected in 1933; and for Chicago 80 per cent of the taxes uncollected, levied in 1931, to be collected in 1932. x x x

"I believe that every dollar thus appropriated will return to the state without the addition of one cent to the state tax rate."

JOHNSON GIVES DEFENSE TO HIS
CHIEF'S DOLLAR

NRA Chief Says It's "Soundest Money" in the World

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The "Roosevelt dollar" in the words of General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA chief, is "the soundest money on the face of the globe."

Johnson told members of the National Manufacturers Association last night that the President is "on sound ground." Only a few hours earlier the association members had applauded a plea for "rugged individualism" as opposed to "ragged collectivism."

He scoffed at the criticism that the government had been "dictatorial" in the framing of codes. "Every code came by agreement," he said. "The agreements came through a long and painful process but they came by common consent and not by any federal dictum."

He urged the manufacturers to "do your own thinking," and said that criticism from political groups opposed to Roosevelt is natural.

"The only hope of the opposition party," he said, "is to make the Roosevelt administration a failure."

"x x x The President is on sound ground. He is giving the inflationist theory an absolute test, but he is doing it without jumping into an unmeasured abyss, and he should be given the support of every prudent man in doing it."

W. Palm Beach
Firemen Vouch
For This Story

West Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 8.—(AP)—The reporter who took the story over the phone from the Northborough Station firemen said it couldn't happen, but the firemen claimed they had seen the cat.

The cat, an Angora, is owned by Mrs. Conrad Brooks of Swanton, Vt. Two weeks ago while Mrs. Brooks was in North Carolina driving to West Palm Beach, the cat leaped from her car and disappeared.

Today—this is the firemen's story—the cat appeared at Mrs. Brooks' winter home in the Northborough here. Its feet were sore and presumably its tongue was hanging out, but it answered to its name—so say the firemen.

But the catch in the story was—the cat had never been in West Palm Beach before.

The reporter wants to know how that cat could read a road map—for that matter how it knew what town to pick out on the map.

LINDBERGH'S ON

they flew from Bathurst, West Africa, the famous American flying couple left an impression different from that of most other visiting aviators.

The population, though enthusiastic in their acclaim, appeared unable to understand the Colonel because he was unwilling to pose for photographs, submit to interviews or attend the many parties the people here would like to have showered upon him and his wife.

Accompanied by the British Consul, Mr. Scotchbrook, who with his wife was host to the Lindberghs' during their stay here, the couple motored from the consulate to the docks.

There the American colony joined admiring Brazilians in a noisy farewell. Sirens drowned out the last well-wishes as both the Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh shook hands with Scotchbrook and Mario Camara, the government interpreter, or official representative.

It was an uneventful takeoff. Col. Lindbergh inspected the plane, tried the motor and they were away easily, circling once before they headed north.

The probable route of the flying American couple lies along the Brazilian states of Ceara, Maranhao and Para, across the 100-mile mouth of the Amazon river, by the French, Dutch and British Guianas; and northward over the Lesser Antilles and the Bahamas, thence across the Caribbean to Miami.

MAY EXPLORE JUNGLES
Rio de Janeiro, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Unconfirmed reports were received here today that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh intends to fly tomorrow towards the headwaters of the Amazon, far into the relatively unexplored interior of South America.

It was said the Colonel intends to spend a month in the jungles hunting for the "lost" white pigmy tribes.

No indication was given as to whether the purported trip would include Mrs. Lindbergh.

It was said, however, that the flight into the Amazonian region would be made from Para, where the Lindberghs arrived today. Para is near the 100-mile-wide mouth of the Amazon.

HEART DISEASE
INCREASES TOLL
THROUGHOUT U. S.

Life Insurance Heads Get Statistics in Annual Session

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—A marked increase in deaths from heart diseases was reported today to the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

Dr. William Muhlbarg of Cincinnati, Medical Director of the Union Central Life Insurance Company, estimated from a study of records of 51 leading life insurance concerns that the death rate from organic diseases of the heart will be 159.1 per 100,000 policyholders during 1933. This compared with 149.9 last year.

However, in discussing mortality from all causes, he said the 1933 record will be one of the most favorable years, and that "medical resources have more than held their own against the forces of death."

TB Fight Winning
He emphasized that the winning fight against tuberculosis gives hopes and courage. The tuberculosis death rate dropped from 57.3 in 1932 to 54.8 this year, and "the word tuberculosis no longer holds the terror it once did

Mrs. Gottle Entertains the South Dixon Community Club

The South Dixon Community Club met in all day meeting on Wednesday Dec. 6th with Mrs. Arnold Gottle, at the lovely country home, north of Eldena.

A delicious roast duck and chicken dinner was served by the hostess, who was ably assisted by Mrs. Walter Ortgiesen and Mrs. Roy Fisher.

After songs and roll call Mrs. Walter Ortgiesen had charge of the interesting afternoon's program.

In the very interesting contests, Mrs. Norman Mumford received a very pretty award and in another, the gentlemen also took part and William Remmers received the prize.

Mrs. Peter Hoyte was given a gift of aluminum ware.

All enjoyed the bountiful dinner and hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Gottle.

The next meeting will be on the evening of Dec. 20th with Mrs. Noah Beard on the Dad Joe trail.

This will be the annual Christmas meeting and the picnic dinner will be served at 7 P. M. There will be a lovely Christmas tree laden with gifts for every member of each family and each child will meet Santa Claus in person.

UNIVERSITY CLUB DANCE DEC. 25th

Christmas night, Dec. 25th, has been chosen as the night of the Oregon University Club's dance. It will be held in the Coliseum and as usual will be attended by many from out of town, including Rockford, Dixon, Sterling, Mt. Morris, etc., as this dance is especially popular with the young college set home for the holidays.

You needn't be a Mind Reader to know he would like a pair of these.

Plenty of swagger and sturdiness to spare, in this good quality black leather oxford.

St. James Aid Soc. Meeting Wednesday

On Wednesday, December 6th, the St. James Aid Society was entertained at the home of Mrs. Norman Miller, with a large attendance of both members and friends. Mrs. Edna Topper and Mrs. Ida Lindeman assisting her.

The forenoon was spent in a social way and at noon a delicious picnic dinner was served. The hostesses serving fried chicken and many other good things, which space forbids mentioning. At 2 o'clock the meeting was called to order in regular form by the president, all singing a Christmas hymn, "Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem," then reading from the 92nd Psalm, and minutes were read and approved.

The roll call and treasurer's report was given. The annual election of officers was held with the same president, Edith Bothe, being retained in office. Edna Topper, vice president; Nada Burkett, secretary. A unanimous vote was given the same treasurer Anna Bothe, who has served untiringly in this office for a number of years her services being the very best.

A business session was held and a program given, consisting of two enjoyable readings by Mrs. Kennedy; readings by Mrs. Hardy and Mrs. LeFevre and piano solos by Ruth Reebrook. The meeting was closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer. The January meeting to be held at the home of Anna Bothe, with Mrs. Kelly, Minnie Ream, Mrs. Sauer and Nada Burkett on the program.

Wawokiye Club At Wilson Home

Mrs. A. C. Wilson, 906 West First street, entertained the Wawokiye Club in an all day meeting Wednesday, December 6th. There was a good attendance of members and friends present. The business meeting was held in the afternoon at which time plans for the food sale, which will be held Saturday, December 16th in the new Rodoch building were complete. The club's built which has been completed, will be disposed of at the food sale.

Since the funds of the club, which had been tied up, are now released, with the opening of the bank, plans were discussed for Christmas work among the needy. These plans will be completed at the next meeting which will be held December 20th. A Christmas grab bag and program will be the features of the coming meeting.

December Meeting of Prairieville P. T. A. Is Very Successful

On Thursday evening the regular December meeting of the Prairieville P. T. A. was held.

The following program was given:
Song, "Home on the Range"
..... Grammar Room Boys
Business and reports
Song, "Sweet and Low".....
..... Girls of Grades 3 to 8
Recitation, "The Mice".....
..... Ethel Wechsler
Recitation, "Little Miss Muffet".....
..... Marion Reed
Dialogue, "A Book Dream".....
..... Helen Becker, Amanda Hippen
The Shepherd's Psalm, Clair Book
Song, "Bright Skies Are Every-where".....
..... Grammar Room
Psalm 109.....
..... Ruth Mahon
Psalm 147.....
..... Arlene Wechsler
Musical novelty.....
..... Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Kreider and Miss Kreider
Vocal Solo, "Homing" and "The Old Refrain".....
..... Mrs. Lester Wilhelm
Monologue.....
..... Mrs. Jasper Parker
"Schools in Other Lands".....
..... Miss Esther Barton
Piano solo, "Kitten on the Keys".....
..... Miss Marie Worley

An unusually large number attended the meeting, thoroughly enjoying the program. One of the "mirth-provoking" numbers was the musical novelty by the "three fair maids" in appropriate costumes. Everyone was surprised at discovering that they were "two-faced".

Mrs. Wilhelm, the possessor of a most beautiful voice, sang very sweetly a double number and responded to an encore. This number was for the children.

Mrs. Parker's monologue was entertaining and heartily applauded. Miss Esther Barton in her talk, discussed her recent world-tour, laying special emphasis on the schools she visited in foreign countries; namely, Japan, Straits Settlement, India, Egypt, and Holland. She showed countless specimens of the work done in those schools. The art and handicraft work seemed to surpass that done by most children of the same age in American schools. This talk was so interesting and instructive that it was enjoyed equally by children and grown-ups.

The concluding number was a piano solo by Miss Marie Worley, one of Dixon's most gifted musicians. She too, very generously responded to an encore.

At the conclusion of the program, Mr. Mahon, the president, in behalf of the association thanked all who had so kindly contributed their efforts toward making the program a success and invited all to attend the Christmas program on December 21 and to the next P. T. A. meeting on January 4. All were invited to the basement where lunch was served.

Inspiring Meeting M. E. Foreign Missionary Soc. Thurs.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church met Thursday afternoon at the beautiful home of Mrs. I. Ioder, 218 Ottawa avenue.

There were 90 in attendance, with visitors from Franklin Grove, Harmon, Polo and Amboy.

Mrs. C. Willford, the president, presided. It was through her untiring efforts that this meeting was made possible.

Mrs. Dawson gave the treasury report which was very good. Mrs. Clara Rowe had charge of the devotion, with "Guiding Light," as the subject. It was most inspiring and ended with prayer.

Miss Sills gave an interesting talk on China, comparing the advantages of working girls there now to their poor advantages of long ago.

Robert Anderson sang beautifully "Birthday of the King," and "Smilin' Thru."

A play entitled "A Gift to the Kings," was presented by Miss Eleanor Crawford, Mrs. A. E. Marth, Mrs. A. Sheffield, Mrs. Crawford Thomas, Mrs. D. G. Palmer, Mrs. E. E. Slinger.

As the offering was taken, in a cradle, little Mary Marth sang "Away in a Manger," which made a pretty ending to the manger story.

Mrs. Henry Leydig gave a reading entitled "The Master Unaware" which gave many new thoughts to the listeners.

Mrs. Crawford Thomas and Mrs. Gilbert Stensell sang Come All Ye Saints, Brightest and Best.

Much credit is to be given Mrs. Blake Grover for her fine cooperation with the music.

DONATE BEAUTIFUL DRESS FOR ST. ANN'S GUILD SALE

Mrs. Hugh Miller and Mrs. Koepfle have made and donated to St. Ann's Guild, a beautiful hand made dress and accessories for a child.

A COMFORTABLE REDUCING DIET

Who wouldn't enjoy reducing with such an array of appetizing eatables as shown above. Research workers say it can be done; that this business of taking off weight need not be a hardship.

Results of a study supervised by Dr. Leo K. Campbell of Rush Medical college, Chicago, reveal the fact that a person can reduce and still completely satisfy his appetite.

The diet used, of which the above foods are typical, is as follows:

TOP: Breakfast—1 serving of fruit; 1 egg; 1 slice of bread; 1 pat of butter; coffee (black or with very little cream and sugar).
CENTER: Luncheon—2 servings of vegetables (1 cooked and 1 raw); 1 small serving of lean meat, or 2 eggs, or 2 tablespoons cottage cheese; 1 slice of bread; 1 pat of butter; 1 glass of milk; 1 serving of fruit.

A SMALL GIRL SPEAKS

By Helen Welshimer

MY teacher has worn the same old dress Ever since school began. An old blue one with a collar and cuffs. I wish she would spill the coffee pot. Or let it get soaked with rain. Or drop a jelly roll down the front And ruin it with a stain.

THE teacher I had last year dressed up. (And now she is married, too!) But the one that I'm learning things from this year Doesn't know what a dress will do. I'll have a new frock every week When I get to teaching school. And I'll never wear brown or black or blue, I'll make it a standing rule!

AND I'll have heels that are good and high. And hats with a snappy perk; No one can tell by watching me That I'm on my way to work. And I'll know my pupils are learning verbs When they sit in quiet rows. Instead of wondering how I'd look If I dressed in nicer clothes!

Holger W. Jensen's Exhibit at Kable Inn

Mt. Morris, Ill., Dec. 8.—Holger W. Jensen, well known landscape painter of Grand Detour and Chicago, is holding a one-man show of his water-colors at the Kable Inn galleries in this village. The exhibit includes twelve paintings and will remain on view only until December 25. It is the first one-man show to be featured by these galleries which now display nearly sixty canvases in oil, in addition to the water-colors, all of them the work of Illinois artists.

The subjects of the twelve water colors are mainly scenes around Grand Detour and Castle Rock, but two are marines painted in Maine and Massachusetts, and one was painted in San Antonio, Texas. All have the freshness and brilliance that comes from direct inspiration because Mr. Jensen does his water-colors "on the spot," using these paintings later as models for his larger paintings in oil.

Many of his canvases have hung in special shows at the Chicago Art Institute and in other important galleries. His water-colors have also been widely exhibited. Several of them were used last summer by a large loop store in Chicago in their model modern home to demonstrate the value of the correctly chosen picture for home decoration.

As is the case with almost all of the 72 paintings in the Kable Inn galleries, Mr. Jensen's twelve water-colors are for sale, but no commission is charged by the proprietors and no admission charge is made for viewing them. The exhibit hangs in the lobby of the Inn.

F. E. Serfass of Freeport, executive of the Western Union Telegraph company having supervision over all of the offices of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin, recently purchased one of Holger Jensen's large oil paintings from the Kable Inn galleries. Mr. Jensen has filled its vacancy with another large oil painting entitled "A Texas Landscape." He also has three other oils on exhibit.

Book Review Of Much Interest

Of much interest was the book review so pleasingly given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. H. U. Bardwell at her home on E. Second street.

Mrs. Bardwell reviewed yesterday, the book, "Within This Present," by Margaret Ayer Barnes. It is a charming and cheerful story, the first chapter introducing its heroine of seventy summers, not a mere girl in her teens. The heroine is a grandmother, a mature woman of wise and kindly judgments, who rules the family presented in the story and they heed their counsels.

The story ends in her 88th year which finds her still busy and planning for the future. It is a book of optimism and hope. We all need more of this sort of literature.

In prefacing her review Mrs. Bardwell stated that she had written the author, Mrs. Barnes, and had received a gracious reply. Mrs. Barnes had never written a story until after her fortieth year and within the last five years she had become a successful fiction writer and playwright. Mrs. Barnes has three children. Her husband is a lawyer.

Mrs. Bardwell gave the review in such an interesting manner that the time spent seemed but a few moments. Another review will be announced in the near future.

The "Illinois Voter" Has Fine Article By Dr. Merlin Hunter

The December number of the Illinois Voter, publication of the Illinois League of Women Voters, just off the press, carries an extremely pertinent article by Dr. Merlin H. Hunter of the University of Illinois, authority in the field of public finance, on "Revenue and the Constitution." Dr. Hunter says in part:

"Many of the things which have been written into constitutions were not basic provisions around which legislation was to evolve but were legislative in themselves. The provisions may have fitted the economic, political and social conditions at the time the constitution was written, but the difficulty has come in that the conditions have changed while the constitutional provisions of decades ago remain. The swaddling clothes fitted to economic and social conditions of a century ago, are ill-adapted to the changed structure of today, to say nothing of what may develop years hence...."

"Rigid constitutional provisions destroy the initiative and interest both of the legislator and the private citizen. Not only do they destroy interest, but too frequently they provide a skirt behind which the legislator can hide. He cannot support this or that proposal, meritorious as it may be, because 'it would be unconstitutional.' The question of merit is lost in the question of constitutionality. After a few such experiences in attempting to secure measures dictated by changed conditions, the citizen will probably sink into a state of coma as far as tax reform is concerned. The legislator will be much more concerned if he knows the responsibility is upon those of his forefathers; the private citizen will continue his interest if he knows the legislator can be held to accountability, and that any proposal he cares to make cannot be shunted down the road of unconstitutionality...."

"We must not forget that constitutional mandates are not self-enforcing, but depend upon legislative procedure and efficient administration. In any event real responsibility for results rests upon the legislator. Why not place such responsibility squarely upon him and make him responsive to the popular will rather than to surround him with archaic constitutional provisions?"

John Charters of Ashton. There were twenty-four guests in attendance, including Mrs. John Charters of Ashton and her small son, William Allen Charters, who was the center of attraction most of the time.

In needwork and chat the hours passed all too swiftly. Bouquets of spicy pink and white carnations graced the living rooms. Tempting refreshments were served. The centerpiece for the dining table was an artistic bowl of fruit with green tapers on either side, the favors harmonizing.

Everyone present spent a most enjoyable afternoon at the hospitable Moore home.

Mrs. Theo. Knoll's Birthday Honored

Sunday evening was happily spent when Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jacobs and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Krugov and family gathered at the home of Theodore Knoll of Harmon and enjoyed an oyster supper in honor of Mrs. Theo. Knoll's birthday.

The hostess received some useful and ornamental gifts and as the guests departed, thanked her for the hospitality of the evening, extending wishes for many more happy birthdays.

WHERE PROFITS SHOULD GO.

Out of the fog of argument and confusion of plans aroused by the effort to draft efficient laws for liquor control after repeal, comes one unassailable fact—whatever system is devised, it must prevent huge private profits.

Greed, given free rein, will wreck any control plan that is adopted. Greed and the lawlessness that it engendered swung the nation's sentiment against prohibition. It can ruin repeal even more easily.

Already, in many states, political strings are being pulled by those who hope to reap a harvest of gold from dealing in liquor. They are a menace comparable to the bootlegging fraternity, in the campaign to assure success of repeal.

One of the facts that wielded immense influence in the fight for repeal was that huge revenue would accrue to national and state governments from taxes on liquor.

Let the country's legislators see to it that this is the case. Let the millions in tax money and fair profits from sales flow into the people's treasuries, instead of into the pockets of greedy profiteers, that the burdens may be lifted from the thousands who are being taxed beyond endurance.

MEDIEVALISM TODAY.

Authorities at Windsor, Ont., seem to have brought to light one of the most depressing stories of the year in their investigation of alleged mistreatment of children at a juvenile aid home there.

Reading the charges is enough to make one heartsick. It is said that the children were whipped, that those who didn't feel like eating were stretched out on the floor and fed forcibly, that fists and pieces of wood were applied to tiny bodies, that children's tongues were daubed with burning astringents.

Every so often something of this kind comes to light. Whether these particular charges are substantiated is beside the point; this sort of thing has happened before, often enough to prove that homes for children not infrequently get into the hands of people who are shockingly cruel.

And the whole thing is almost enough to make you lose your faith in human nature. Of all forms of cruelty, that which vents itself on a child is by all odds the most horrible.

Remember that we razed Uncle John Garner so mercilessly about a measly 2 billion easy money bill that he was chased off the speaking campaign for the Roosevelt-Garner ticket. Uncle John must regard himself as a piker now.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Well, first of all, I guess we'll roam around, so you will feel at home," said Santa. "You must meet my elves. They're clever little men. They've spent their lives at making things. Just think what happiness that brings. They work all year, till Christmas. Then they start right in again."

Then Santa took the Tines to a lot of shops. They shortly knew all of the elves in Santa Land. "We're glad you came," said one. "Our work has piled up very high and my, oh my, how time flies by. You'll find that there is plenty that you Tinesmites can do."

Another elf said, "Mercy me! You must be hungry as can be, 'cause you have traveled quite a ways to reach this far-off place. "We have a lunch room near at hand, with counters where you all can stand." "Say, that sounds fine," said Duncy, with a broad smile on his face.

While rambling through the news of the day—perhaps searching for an inkling (who knows?)—I came upon the story of Mr. Bosworth's fine collection of papers. And there it was, right before me, and the coos of the process of alleged thinking came into mesh with a crunch.

The Rock River Register, of December 9, 1932, was a contemporary of Gall Borden's own Texas paper. Borden, of lactate fluid fame, had to his credit, among several other accomplishments, the distinction of having published the first newspaper in Texas. That was many years ago.

In those days, the idea in newspaper writing was to present stories more or less beautifully written. Flowery expression was the watchword, and there were more reasons for this than the desire to present pretty tales. Important among these reasons was the fact that accounts of news events were not great in number. With the available material, therefore, the papers filled—even if it meant resorting to the game known as "padding."

Today, of course, and for the past several years the great news syndicates have so developed news-gathering the world over that the telegraph wires fairly bulge with stories. In fact, the accounts are so numerous that it is necessary to greatly condense the reports.

As for the flowery language, that type of writing, in news circles, may now occasionally appear in editorials and the "columns," but it is rare even in those places. The goal is to report events clearly and briefly. As a matter of fact, people in this age have little time to read long pieces.

The modern headline and the first paragraph usually tell the whole story. The details follow, and are there to read (without the flourishes) if the reader cares to bother with them.

For example, suppose there is a fire which destroys a public school during the night. To show the difference, the old-time newspaper would start out the account something like this:

"The Washington school, which has stood for many years as a seat of primary learning, is no more. Many a citizen, as he saw a raging fire level the old landmark to the ground, went back, in recollection, to an earlier day when he himself made his way to this very school as an unwilling schoolboy."

But the modern reporter rattles the first paragraph off in this manner:

"Police were unable this morning to determine the origin of the fire which completely demolished the Washington school here late last night."

If the modern newspaper leans toward short, choppy sentences, it is because the public, in this whirling age, demands it.

Everyday Religion

UP AGAINST IT

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton
Many desperate letters reach me from my readers. They tell of situations so dark, so dire, that they stagger me. It wrings my heart to read these stories of suffering, all the more because they put problems to me beyond my power to solve.

Yet every day deepens my admiration for plain, simple human beings, and the way in which they meet the shocks and take the hard blows of life. The sheer heroism of people, their patient endurance of untoward fate, fills me with awe, it ought to be sung in an epic.

"Really I cannot go on," writes a minister; "my faith is gone. The grave of my little girl chokes me if I think of going into the pulpit." He must not go into the pulpit until he can see through the shadow to the brightness on the other side of death.

"When my girl gave way," writes a young woman, "I found something beyond courage. What it was I do not know, but it helped me to go on, fight it through, and win out." When she tells me what she faced, disaster following fast and following faster, I am amazed.

"Everything went over the dam," writes a man of sixty; "my family, friends, fortune. But I'm not licked yet. I refuse to give up, squeak, and go under. No man is whipped until he admits he is. There is a lot of life in me yet, and I pack a wicked wallop."

There is the spirit that cannot be beaten. No matter what happens—and enough has happened in the last four years—it is no reason for losing grip on ourselves, much less for lying down and crying. If the worst happens, it is up to us alone, no one can live our life for us. It is the storm that tests the ship.

What to do about it? Hang on; keep fighting; never give up! If you are knocked flat, get up, square yourself, and put all your energy into a big punch. Patch up your tattered nerves, believe in yourself, and stay on deck no matter how wild the storm is. The result will be surprising!

Daily Health Talk

FUNGUS INFECTIONS OF THE LUNGS

Biologic relatives of the parasites which cause athlete's foot may cause serious disease of the lungs. This statement, however, should not be taken to mean that the person who has athlete's foot is in particular danger of developing a lung condition.

The fungus parasites fall into three large classes. Some are like yeast, some are like mold, and the third group belongs to the so-called higher bacterial forms.

In recent years we have begun to appreciate the disease-producing powers of the fungi. Perhaps the one place where we have seen most of the fungi is in the diseases of the skin and its appendages. Here we find the fungi causing various forms of ringworm, different types of eczema, and a variety of other troublesome conditions.

We have learned also that the fungi not only cause trouble where they grow and develop, but may affect remote parts of the body.

The discovery of the fungus diseases of the lungs may be said to be a by-product of our tuberculosis work. An appreciable number of patients present symptoms which cause us to suspect that they are victims of tuberculosis. However, on examination the sputum shows no tubercle bacilli, but instead a variety of fungi.

Just how many individuals are affected by this type of disease is still unknown. Those who have devoted much study to the subject are of the opinion that the condition is fairly widespread.

The fungus diseases may be treated effectively with iodides. Iodine, which has been for many years used in overcoming patches or ringworm, is employed in a variety of forms in the treatment of other forms of fungus infections. Recently an effective treatment for fungus diseases of the lung has been developed in the form of iodine in combination with alcohol, technically called ethyl iodide. This treatment is administered in vapor form.

Announcing

NEW FORD V-8 for 1934

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The New Ford V-8 for 1934 will be on display tomorrow at the showrooms of Ford dealers. Surpassing even the great Ford of 1933 in economy, beauty and comfort, it is truly the car of this modern age—the culmination of thirty years Ford progress. It combines the proved performance of the V-8 cylinder engine with two important new features—Dual Carburetion and perfected Clear-vision Ventilation. See it and drive it at the first opportunity.

OUTSTANDING IMPROVEMENTS IN THE NEW FORD V-8

BETTER PERFORMANCE. Greater power, new speed, quicker acceleration, smoother performance, more miles per gallon especially at higher speeds, and quicker starting in cold weather—all these result from the new dual carburetor and dual intake manifold. New waterline thermostats enable the engine to warm up more quickly and to maintain an efficient operating temperature. Added engine refinements reduce oil consumption, further improve operating economy and reduce maintenance costs.

NEW VENTILATION SYSTEM permits clear vision, prevents drafts and provides desired amount of fresh air in any weather. Individual control for front and rear side windows. When ventilation is desired the window glass is raised to the top. Then the handle is given an additional half-turn. This slides the glass back horizontally to form a narrow slot, as illustrated.

Through this slot air is drawn out by the forward motion of the car. This simple ventilation system maintains draft-free circulation, insures passenger comfort, prevents fogging windshield in cold or stormy weather. Both windshield and cowl ventilator can be opened to supply additional air needed for comfortable warm-weather driving.

DISTINCTIVE NEW APPEARANCE enhanced by the newly designed chromium-plated radiator shell and grille, new hood louvers, new hub caps. SPORTS
OF ALL SORTSANDERSON
AND HARPER
ARE OUSTEDElmer Layden, One Of
"Four Horsemen" To
Coach Ramblers

BULLETIN

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Elmer Layden, one of the "Four Horsemen," will replace Heartly "Hunk" Anderson as head football coach at Notre Dame next fall as the result of a drastic shakeup of the Notre Dame athletic staff. Jess Harper also will retire as director of athletics.

Harper's successor probably will be announced within the next two weeks. The most persistent report, however, was that Layden would hold both the Athletic Director's and coaching jobs. Layden is now coach at Duquesne but will leave his post in time to take charge of spring football in 1934.

In the absence of Father Charles O'Donnell, president of the university, who has been recuperating from a long illness, no official statement on the changes was expected before his return tomorrow but they were readily admitted by authorities in charge although none wished to be quoted personally.

Harper Once Coach
Harper and Anderson stepped into their positions after the tragic death of Knute Rockne in an airplane crash March 31, 1931. Harper formerly coached the Notre Dame football team and was instrumental in making the Irish nationally known. It was under Harper's coaching that Rockne learned the game and he ultimately succeeded his teacher when Harper decided to retire. Upon Rockne's death Anderson was senior football coach, assisted by Jack Chevigny, who was called the "junior coach." The combination lasted only the one year and Chevigny left, making Anderson head coach. Anderson did well in his first year as head coach but last season his team had a hapless campaign that was brightened only by victories over Indiana and Northwestern and the astounding upset of the Army.

Kizer Was Favored
The retirement of Harper, who has wanted to return to his ranch in Kansas again, eliminated his plan to ultimately install Noble Kizer of Purdue as head football coach at Notre Dame. It was known that Harper planned to call Kizer to the post and up until today the chief of the Boiler-makers was considered a sure choice for the coaching post at Notre Dame.

In three years since Rockne's death, Notre Dame football teams have won 16 games, lost nine and tied two.

Layden, a 160 pound marvel in his college days, was one of the lightest and fastest fullbacks that ever galloped over a gridiron. He began his football career at Davenport, Ia., where he was an all-around high school athlete. He entered Notre Dame in 1921.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Reports were published today by the Herald and Examiner that Coach Heartly (Hunk) Anderson of Notre Dame had resigned along with Jesse Harper, Director of Athletics, and the whole coaching staff with one exception, and that Elmer Layden of "Four Horsemen" fame would be named to succeed Anderson.

The others who resigned in the greatest coaching shakeup in Notre Dame's history, the newspaper said, are Marchmont Schwartz, North Hoffman and John (Ike) Voedich, all former Irish players and at present assistant coaches.

Only Tom Conley, end coach who came to Notre Dame about a year ago, was remaining, the Herald and Examiner said.

Harper, coach at Notre Dame in the days when the late Knute Rockne was a player, came back to take over the helm as Director of Athletics upon the death of Coach Rockne in a Kansas airplane crash in 1931. He could not be reached for a comment early today.

Hunks Knows Nothing

However, Anderson at his home in South Bend denied any knowledge of his resignation. He would not make a positive denial that it had been submitted.

"I don't know anything about it," he said.

Although the reported resignations of Anderson and Harper did not surprise the sports world, as Anderson's, at least, had been predicted freely throughout the recent football season because of the many defeats his team suffered, the Herald and Examiner's statement that Layden would succeed him was unexpected.

Layden, a member of the famous Irish aggression of 1924 that won for itself the name of "Four Horsemen," had not been among those prominently mentioned as successors to the coaching job.

However, he won national prominence this year as coach of the Duquesne University football team, which won most of its games.

The Herald and Examiner said Layden was expected to act as both coach and athletic director as did Rockne, and thus be in a position to name his own assistants.

No Indication
A few hours before the newspaper made its announcement Coach Anderson and Harper attended the annual monogram banquet on the university campus and neither, by word or action, gave any indication that it might be their last in their present capacities.

At the banquet Dominic Barro, Calumet, Mich., an end on this year's team, was named captain of the 1934 eleven.

This year's eleven was the third Anderson coached for Notre Dame, although he had been an assistant to Rockne several years before the latter died.

On the heels of pre-season publicity that hailed the team as almost certain to become one of the greatest in the history of the Ramblers, it lost five games, fought Kansas to a scoreless tie and defeated Indiana, Northwestern and the Army.

Sentiment Changed
Teams that defeated Notre Dame were Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh, Purdue (for the first time in more than a quarter of a century), the Navy and Southern California.

Throughout the season the gossip continued that Anderson would be replaced but prospective successors denied they had been approached. One of the first mentioned was Noble Kizer, former Notre Dame star, and coach at Purdue, while recent reports said James (Slocum) Crowley, another of the "Four Horsemen" and coach at Fordham was ready to return to his alma mater.

However, since the surprise 13 to 12 defeat of the Army last Saturday by the Irish, sentiment swung back to Anderson, and it was said in some quarters that he would be permitted to stay for at least another year.

NEWS TO LAYDEN

Pittsburgh, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Elmer Layden, gridiron coach at Duquesne University, today said the Chicago report that he is to become football mentor and athletic director at Notre Dame is "news" to him.

"I'm sorry, I don't know anything about it," the one time member of the "Four Horsemen" said upon being called out of bed.

ATHLETIC HEADS OF BIG TEN ARE HOLDING MEETING

An Annual Gathering Of Sports Officials On
In Chicago

Chicago, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Athletic directors, coaches and members of the Faculty Committee on Athletics of the Western Conference met today to take care of some routine business, and talk about at least one other interesting item.

The football schedules for 1934 already have been made up and needed only to be ratified, but coaches of baseball, track and minor sports had their seasons to arrange. The question of training tables was expected to be discussed, and it was possible that the custom might again be voted into use.

The proposed merger of the University of Chicago and Northwestern University was a bright topic of conversation, although President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the Midway school said last night the Maroons would always be represented by football teams.

Previously, rumor had it that the merger might lead to the abandonment of the undergraduate college at Chicago and dolesters mentioned Michigan State College, Notre Dame, Nebraska and Marquette as possibilities for Big Ten membership to replace Chicago.

To Maintain Teams
But, in addressing the annual banquet of the Chicago Alumni Club, Dr. Hutchins said there never was and never would be any desire to abandon the college on the Midway.

"I assure you," he said, "that no matter what happens, there always will be a college, and there will be all the usual appearances, including football."

For two more years you alumni will see Berwanger riding to glory on the gridiron. His successors through the far distant future will be gallivanting across Stagg Field, and under a Maroon flag."

The athletic directors were scheduled to meet this morning, with track coaches holding a session of their own. A joint meeting of athletic directors, faculty commit-

KLEIN IS MOST EFFECTIVE BATS-
MAN IN LEAGUE

National Loop Published
Miscellaneous Records Today

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—For the third successive year, Chuck Klein topped the National League in slugging during 1933 and also led all rivals in batting effectiveness, a department compiled for the first time, by hitting into only three double plays.

The Phillies' outfield ace, traded to the Chicago Cubs during the off-season, compiled a slugging average of .602, the league's official "miscellaneous records," made public today, revealed. Holder of the league batting championship, Klein compiled his winning slugging percentage with 365 total bases in 696 times at bat. He drove in 120 runs to lead in another department, drew 56 walks and struck out 36 times.

Mel Ott of the New York Giants drew the most walks, 75, to top that list for the second year in a row, while Johnny Frederick of Brooklyn fanned only 14 times in 147 games, for the best record in that respect. The Cubs were by far the best home club but the Giants topped them all on the road.

Lombardi Offender
Trailing Klein in batting effectiveness was Ralph Boyle of Brooklyn who hit into only two double plays in 338 times at bat although several players who took part in the requisite number of 50 games but made comparatively few tips to the plate were not caught this way at all. In contrast, big Ernie Lombardi of Cincinnati batted into 26 double-killings.

Wally Berger of Boston held two second places in the slugging average of .556 and .566 runs batted in. He also was the leader in strikeouts, whiffing 77 times. George Watkins of St. Louis was hit 12 times by pitched balls. As a club, the Pittsburgh Pirates were the leading sluggers with a .383 mark while the league as a whole compiled a .362 average.

Cubs Bad On Road
The Cubs, in their own park, won 56 games and lost only 23 for a .709 average but on foreign fields their average dropped to .469 from .30 victories and 45 defeats. The Giants stood third in the at home ranking with 48 games won and 27 lost for .640 but on the road they were far ahead with 43 victories and 34 defeats for .558. The Giants also shone in the shutout records, winning 23 games by that route and losing eleven. They blanked Cincinnati six times and Chicago and St. Louis four each. The Pirates suffered the fewest shutouts, eight, while handing out twice that number.

A total of 16 players served two clubs and most of them made better records with the new ones than with the old. Notable among this group was Paul Derringer, who lost more games than any other pitcher. With St. Louis he lost two games and allowed an average of 4.24 earned runs each nine innings. In 33 games with Cincinnati, although he won only seven and lost 25, he reduced the earned run average to 3.23.

Others were Sparky Adams, whose batting average rose from .167 to .262 with the shift from St. Louis to Cincinnati; Leo Durocher, who reversed that course and lifted his mark from .216 to .258; Frank O'Doul whose mark rose from .252 to .306 with the shift from Brooklyn to New York and Wes Schulmerich, who hit .247 for Boston and .334 for Philadelphia.

Do You Remember?
One Year Ago Today—In a determined fight to clinch first place in the National Hockey League, the New York Rangers defeated the New York Americans, 3-1, in a rough ice battle.

Five Years Ago Today—Rabbit Maranville, infielder, and George Harper, outfielder, were sold to the Boston Braves by the Cardinals.

Ten Years Ago Today—William Farley won the Metropolitan A. A. U. senior 400-yard dash at the 53d indoor athletic meet of the organization.

against the home team. Finally, after calling one against the favored sons, pop bottles clouded the air and fans swarmed on the field making for the ump.

Two stalwart coppers, however, came to his assistance and escorted him safely off the field. Once in the clubhouse, Red turned and mumbled thanks to the officers.

"Listen, Mister," one of the big, red-faced guardians of the law remarked, "your thanks are all out of order. It's our duty to assist the blind."

MAJOR LEAGUES'
MEETINGS TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

Magnates and Officers Of Both Loops Will Meet
In Chicago

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Jim Tierney, secretary of the New York Giants, never will get his bag packed for the trip to Chicago next week if the rumor boys don't give him a breathing spell.

Tierney's preparations for attending the major league meetings have met with serious delays while he has been busily engaged in denying that either Francis Xavier O'Doul or Travis (Stonewall) Jackson would be traded, or that outfielder Joe Moore's health was so precarious as to make it doubtful he would be able to take his place in left field for the world champions next year.

Jackson, troubled for several years with injuries to both knees but a brilliant performer for the Giants in the world series, has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the management of the Cincinnati Reds.

"Jackson will be with us next spring," insisted Tierney. "There wasn't anything wrong with his knees in the world series, was there?"

O'Doul's name has been linked with various trade rumors but Jim says the Giants have never even considered trading or asking waivers on the veteran outfielder whose pinch hit won the second game of the world series with the Washington Senators.

As for Moore, Tierney scouted reports that the little outfielder was gravely ill. "He had a minor operation last month," Jim said, "and is almost ready to play right now."

Thus having disposed of the three latest reports, Secretary Jim went back to his packing.

Ed Barrow, business manager of the New York Yankees, thinks the major leagues will decide to use identical balls next year. He believes the club owners at their meetings in Chicago, will arrive at a compromise on this problem.

"A compromise is the logical thing," he said. "Major league ball should be played with similar implements in both big leagues. Put the American League cover on the ball. Add the thicker stitching now used in the seams of the National League ball. That ought to satisfy everybody."

The difference in the two balls last year made the American League a hitter's loop while the pitchers had a wide edge in the National.

Along with this question, the magnates probably will battle over the merits, or demerits, of "synthetic doubleheaders," discuss suggestions that each major league team play two or three games with each team in the rival circuit as part of the regular schedule, and determine whether or not K. M. Landis is to be retained as High Commissioner.

Many big trades already have been swung but more probably will be announced at Chicago. The Yankees, for once, are in the market for a winning right handed pitcher and Joe McCarthy would not look the other way if Oral Hildebrand, youthful Cleveland Indian star, should be offered him.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, needing all kinds of new strength, will be ready to consider most any kind of an offer.

Three Killed In Fight on Border

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Three men were killed and another wounded in a gun fight between U. S. border patrolmen and liquor smugglers yesterday.

The dead: Dorne C. Melton, 31, U. S. border patrolman, shot through the heart; Francisco Gonzalez, 25, Juarez; Higinio Perez, Juarez.

The wounded man Francisco Mosquero, is in a serious condition in Liberty hospital, Juarez.

American officers seized 150 gallons of mixed liquors. Melton came here in January from Conyers, Georgia.

ALL-BRAN Provides "Bulk,"
Vitamin B and Iron

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN meets a basic need of the American dietary. It supplies "bulk"—so helpful in correcting common constipation. In eleven years, ALL-BRAN has won millions of satisfied users.

New tests show added reasons for the success of ALL-BRAN. Laboratory experiments prove that, in addition to "bulk," it provides vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

The headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so often result from constipation can be overcome by this pleasant cereal. How much better than using pills and drugs.

ALL-BRAN is mild. Its "bulk" is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Two tablespoons daily are sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with every meal, if not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Another benefit of ALL-BRAN is that it has twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Serve as a cereal, or use in cooking. Tempting recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SANTA'S PARADE
HERE TUESDAY TO BE GREAT EVENT

People From All Parts of Community to be Here to See It

All eyes are on Dixon, all roads lead to Dixon, and every man, woman and child within a radius of 100 miles or more of Dixon is waiting the Santa Claus parade in Dixon at 1 P. M. Tuesday.

This is as it should be, since the parade has been developed so as to appeal to all ages and all classes. There will be something to attract the attention and hold the interest of old people, the college girl, the high school boy, the workman, doctor, lawyer and little children. There will be as many interesting things for the grown-ups as for the little children many of whom will see Santa Claus for the first time in their lives.

Accordingly, it is expected that in every block, hundreds and thousands will be gathered to witness the great spectacle. Sidewalks and streets will be crowded to capacity and every window will be filled with eager faces. Small children will be hoisted to their parents' shoulders and their cries of delight will mingle with the respectful silence and ejaculations of amazement on the part of their elders. It is well to issue a word of warning against crowding in the streets at this time.

It will be well for everyone planning to see the parade to arrive at least an hour in advance of the time the parade begins moving. Especially those who will drive here should do so, as traffic inevitably will be heavy and it will be impossible to move with any degree of speed just before the parade.

Pastime No Problem

It will not mean any inconvenience on anyone's part to arrive early for the parade, the committee in charge points out in making this announcement, as merchants are prepared to hold open house for those coming to town for the occasion. Attractively displayed, the grand stocks of holiday merchandise in the stores provide a worthwhile sight to inspect while waiting for the parade.

Merchants are prepared to take care of one of the greatest crowds of shoppers ever assembled here. Stores are stocked with the latest creations in toys for children as well as up-to-the-minute styles and every imaginable sort of thing for grown-ups.

No one should wait to do Christmas shopping. Right now would be a good time to visit the stores and make selections of Christmas gifts. Tastes and wants can be provided for much more satisfactorily while the stocks are fresh and complete.

There will be more about Santa Claus and his coming in tomorrow's Telegraph.

GOOD THOUGHTS

There is but one standard of forgiveness, namely, the standard set by Christ Jesus. To forgive freely and fully is the purpose of one who has caught a glimpse of this divine example. To such a one this is not irksome, for his thought reaches out with brotherly interest to those around him.

—The Christian Science Monitor

Forgive and forget! Why, the world would be lonely.

If the flowers but remembered the chilling winds only

And the fields gave no venture for fear of the storm.

—Charles Swain

He is the greatest giver who is the greatest forgiver.

—Benj. Goodfield

Forgiveness that stops with remitting the penalty for an offense is a questionable good—perfect forgiveness does away with the offense itself.

—Rev. Grant Evans

In taking revenge a man is but even with his enemy, but in passing over the offense he is superior.

—Bacon

Life that ever needs forgiveness, has for its first duty, to forgive.

—Lytton

The more we know, the better we forgive.

Whoever feels deeply, feels for all who live.

—Mme. de Staël

And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.

—Ephesians 4

ST. PAUL'S EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Lloyd Warren, Pastor

8:00 A. M. Divine Worship using the Matins. Always a helpful service.

9:32 A. M. Bible school. In the school we are able to feel that the spirit of Christmas is abroad.

10:45 A. M. Divine Worship. "I was glad when they said unto me, 'Let us go into the House of the Lord.'"

2:00 P. M. The Junior Luther League will leave the church to go to the County Home. The Juniors are presenting a Christmas program for the people of the home. This is commendable and every Junior should go.

7:00 P. M. Senior Luther League

The theme for the month of December is "Good Will" and the topic for this Sunday is "How to Help Others." The leaders are: Cara Koerper and Ruth Puffs. We are having large and interesting meetings but there are many more young people in the church who should enjoy these Sunday evening meetings.

7:15 P. M. Tuesday—The men of the Brotherhood will meet at the church to go to Polk to a District meeting. We want a big delegation, and ask the men to plan to attend.

6:30 P. M. Tuesday—The Young Women's Missionary Society will enjoy a scramble supper at the church. They are inviting their mothers. A pleasant time is anticipated. The regular meeting will follow the supper. The young women of the church and their friends are cordially invited to all of these meetings.

7:30 P. M. Wednesday—The mid-week service. The book of Revelations is being studied; many very strange, interesting and helpful things are found. Come with us on Wednesday evening.

2:30 P. M. Thursday—The Women's Missionary Society meets at the church. A good meeting is being planned. All women of the church and their friends are invited to come.

We are now approaching the Christmas season and many activities are centered in the church. A few of them are as follows:

Monday evening, December 10, the Senior Luther League is sponsoring the annual Yacusa Organize party. A supper will be served at 6:30 to the children which will be followed by a Christmas program presented by the children of the home.

Friday evening, Dec. 22 the Bible school will celebrate Christmas with a program and a treat for all the children.

Sunday night, December 24 at 11:00 o'clock at the dawn of Christmas day the church will hold a candlelight service, to which all are invited. This will take the place of the early 6:00 o'clock service of Christmas day.

You are cordially invited to all our appointments.

BRETHREN CHURCH

William E. Thompson, pastor

10:00 A. M.—Sunday school. We have classes for every age and you will enjoy our fellowship.

11:00—Divine worship. This Sunday is Universal Bible Sunday and the pastor will speak on the subject of "The Holy Bible," and all are invited to enjoy this service.

The mothers' and daughters' banquet has been postponed until the first of the year.

There will be a universal Bible program given at 7 o'clock for everybody and there should be a packed house. The Bible is the book of all books and we believe that the public will enjoy this program which will be given as follows:

Leader—Dean Hoff.

Song leader—Kathryn Lehman.

Pianist—Ada Underwood.

Reading—Viola Butterbaugh.

Piano solo—Elizabeth Ford.

Solo—"Cling to the Bible"—Roy Glessner.

"The Bible, a Safe Guide"—David Wade.

E. church, officiated at the ceremony and they were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sanders. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith, and the groom is well known, having been a member of the 1932 class graduating from the local high school. The happy young couple will reside with Mrs. Smith's parents, Mrs. Arthur O'Hare, R. F. D. 2, Box 96, Dixon, Ill. 28813

The Home Economics classes under the direction of Miss Mary Lee Hunt have organized a club.

A chimney fire at the Harry A. Nass home late Tuesday afternoon brought out the local fire department. The blaze was confined to the chimney and little damage was done although without prompt action on the part of the department the damage might have been much greater as the flames were shooting high into the air when the firefighters arrived.

The ball park has been under investigation under the direction of Hartman Korsten, with several men employed on the project.

ROCHELLE NEWS

By ARTHUR GUEST

ROCHELLE—Mrs. A. W. Guest passed away at her home on Fourth Avenue, at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, following several weeks of illness.

Lorena Pratt Guest was born in Utica, Illinois on January 24, 1870 and died at her home in Rochelle, Sunday, December 3, 1933, aged 63 years 10 months and 8 days. Her birth occurred at Utica, Illinois.

Mrs. Guest was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pratt. In 1871 with her parents she moved to Hinckley, Illinois and in 1890 the family moved to Rochelle.

The deceased received her education in the schools at Hinckley and was graduated from Jennings' Seminary at Aurora, Illinois. She taught in the Rochelle public schools and on Oct. 5, 1899 was united in marriage to Aaron Wesley Guest. Mrs. Guest's mother died in 1902 and her father in 1925.

Surviving are her brother, Harry A. Pratt, of Thief River Falls, Minn., and a son, Arthur T. Guest of Rochelle. She was a charter member of the Friendly Society and has been active in club work.

Funeral services were held from the family residence at 2:30 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, December 6th, in charge of Mr. Thompson, Christian Science reader of the First church of Rochelle. Musical numbers were furnished by Mrs. Floyd Biefang and Mrs. Raymond Law and burial was made in Lawndale cemetery.

Misses Clara Armstrong and Josephine Nichols of Dixon were among those from out-of-town attending the funeral.

Lorena Pratt Guest was a woman of high principles and many fine qualities of heart and mind, staunch in her loyalties and beliefs, true to her ideas of right and wrong. She was unequivocally opposed to anything that savored of dishonesty or deceit, was adamant and uncompromising in trying to live up to her tenets of faith and sense of duty. With her nothing could be done by halves.

Mrs. Guest was an honest, loyal friend, a generous, and an exceedingly appreciative of the smallest kindness or courtesy.

Only a few of her close associates knew of her many deeds of charity and her intense love for children. Shunning publicity, she sought out the sick and needy, supplying them with care, food, clothing, toys. She assisted several young people so they could complete high school. Not only in Rochelle but in other places, the underprivileged profited by her generosity and long hours of labor in making their garments or dressing the many dolls which were real works of art and a revelation of beauty to literally hundreds of children in the mountainous region around Berea, Ky. where Rev. Earl Ziegler had his pastorate. Her devotion to her two little grandchildren was intense, bestowing on them the most loving care and watchfulness and made happier by their adoration. They were a great comfort and source in the trying months of illness and adversity.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Low BROOKMAN
GREAT LIPS AND NOSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAVID BANNISTER undertakes to find out who killed King, orchestra leader found dead in his hotel apartment. Bannister, an author and former newspaper man, works on the murder case with GAINES, start reporter for the Post.

Among those suspected of the crime are JULIET FRANCE, blond and pretty, known to have visited King shortly before his death; HERMAN SCURLACH who wrote King a threatening letter; and JOE PARROTT, down-and-out, wretched actor. It is also known that MELVINA HOLLISTER, middle-aged spinster, had quarreled with King recently.

King was engaged to wealthy DENISE LANG, MATTHEW HOLISTER, Melvina's brother, told Bannister he believes his sister knows something else in keeping with the police. Bannister goes to dinner with PARKER COLEMAN, friend of Denise Lang's, who drives him along a country road when Coleman sees a dark object ahead and shouts:

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVI

BANNISTER exclaimed sharply. "What is it?"

The roadster came to a halt, brakes grinding. Coleman jumped from the car. "Back here," he called and ran in the direction from which they had come.

Bannister followed, slower and more cautiously. He could make out now that there was something about the scene was something odd, something black and oddly shaped, lying at the side of the road just beyond the turn.

"Wait!" he called to Coleman, but the other did not wait. Panting, breathless, Bannister made the dozen yards. He knew now what it was ahead. An overturned automobile, slanting on the hillside, its wheels reared grotesquely.

"Is there anyone there?" he called.

"Can't tell. There's a flashlight in my car!"

Coleman was off again for the flashlight. Bannister searched his pockets for matches, found them and struck one. He had to move to the other side of the overturned sedan and cup his hands to protect the blaze. The match sputtered an instant and then died, but in that instant Bannister had caught a glimpse of a man's face—white and cut and bleeding.

When Coleman returned with the flashlight he found Bannister struggling with the door of the sedan. The car had fallen in such a way that the door could not be opened.

"There's a man in there!" Bannister told him. "We've got to get him out!"

Together they struggled with the door but it would not open. In the bright rays of the flashlight they saw that the man was alone in the car. He had fallen forward, his body pressed against the steering wheel. There was a good deal of blood on the man's clothing and some on the cushions of the car.

"Do you think he's alive?" Coleman asked.

"Don't know. We'll have to get him out and find out."

It was almost 20 minutes' work before they finally managed it. Coleman had stripped off his topcoat and laid it on the ground. They put the man on the coat. Then Bannister, down on his knees, bent over him touching his hands.

"They're warm," he exclaimed. And a moment later, "His heart's beating!"

BANNISTER looked down at the figure on the ground. The man's eyes were closed. His hair was matted and there was a dark stain across his forehead and down one cheek. His upper lip had been cut and bled copiously.

Suddenly, with an exclamation that was both amazement and horror, Bannister drew back. "It's Dragan!" he cried.

"Al Dragan!" He played in King's orchestra. He and King were friends. I was talking to him only the other night. Yes, it's Dragan, all right. We've got to do something! We've got to get him to a

LIFE INSURANCE PAYMENT THIS YEAR SET MARK

Over Three Billions
Will Be Paid By
End Of Year

New York, Dec. 8 — (AP)—Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries by American life insurance companies will break all records this year, Chairman Fred A. Howland told the 27th annual convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

By the end of the year about $3,100,000,000 will have been paid in the form of death claims, matured endowments, annuities, surrender values, dividends and disability benefits.

Howland, who is president of the National Life Insurance Company of Montpelier, Vt., disclosed that this sum is slightly larger than payments last year, when all previous records were broken. Of the 1933 total, he said, $2,175,000,000 goes to living policy holders and $925,000,000 to widows, orphans and other beneficiaries.

Current conditions have emphasized life insurance's place as a trustworthy reserve in time of stress, he said.

"The test has been severe," he added, "but the response has been adequate."

Despite the depression, he declared, the volume of life insurance in force at the end of the year will be about $95,000,000,000, only 5 per cent less than the $100,154,000,000 in force last year.

SPECULATOR IN BANK STOCK IS AFTER REDRESS

Chicagoan Goes To Court To Recuperate
His Loss

Chicago, Dec. 8 — (AP)—The U. S. District Court had before it today a suit for $1,500,000 damages which pictured Joseph P. Rend, a Chicago financier and brother-in-law of Charles E. Mitchell, former president of the National City Bank of New York, as a heavy loser in the bank's stock.

The suit was filed Wednesday, it charged officials of the City Company of New York, a former bank affiliate, with issuing fraudulent information. It named the City Company as defendant.

The suit said Rend, whose sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell figured in her banker husband's recent trial, bought the stock in lots of 1,000 shares at a time. He said he had been informed by officials the bank would be merged with the Corn Exchange Bank of New York and its stock would go up $50 a share.

Instead he said he bought 1,000 shares November 1 1929 at $450 a share and took a loss of $110,000 five days later. He continued to buy and now holds 5,000 shares worth only $20 a share.

Transient Shelters To Open This Month

Chicago Dec. 8 — (AP)—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission today announced the opening by December 15 of several of the transient relief shelters recently established in seven cities in the state and the complete operation of all of the units by January 1.

Centers have been established in Chicago, Rock Island, East St. Louis, Cairo, Springfield, Danville and Rockford and with the construction of shelter units for both men and women the commission said provision for the care of all the needy in the state will be complete.

Administration costs of the shel-

Germany Extends Offer to Russia

Berlin Dec. 8 — (AP)—An appeal for friendlier relations between Nazi Germany and Communist Russia was voiced here coincident with the arrival of the Soviet Foreign Commissar, Maxim Litvinoff.

Litvinoff, homeward bound after a successful mission to the United States and later talks with Premier Mussolini at Rome, planned only a brief stay here.

A few hours before his arrival, Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, head of the Nazi party's foreign political division, urged in an editorial in the Munich "Voelkischer Beobachter" that animosities between the two countries be forgotten.

A business is judged by the stationery used. Why not have the correct thing. It costs little more and is effective. B. F. Shaw Printing Co.
